

SCRAP SHIPS, U.S. PLAN

"NAVAL HOLIDAY" IS SUGGESTED FOR 3 WORLD POWERS

Secretary Hughes, Elected
Chairman, Makes Startling Proposal.

SCRAP ALL BATTLE SHIPS NOW BUILDING

Statesmen of Great Britain and Japan Unprepared
To Accept.

Washington, Nov. 12—With a suddenness that left the great statesmen of the world literally gasping for breath, Secretary of State Hughes proposed officially to Great Britain and Japan today that they join with the United States in scrapping all the battle ships now building or contemplated and enter into a "ten year naval holiday."

The startling proposal came within an hour after the opening of the momentous armament conference, within a few minutes after the election of the American secretary of state to chairmanship of the conference, and it found the statesmen and naval experts of Great Britain and Japan unprepared to either accept or reject the proposal.

Great Britain made no comment at all when Hughes finished and Japan contented herself by making a few stereotyped remarks about how glad she was to be here in Washington and how willing she was to "cooperate with other nations to accomplish the ends of the conference."

The immediate effect of the American proposals, if adopted, would be to leave the navies of the world in relatively the same strength as they now are in; Great Britain slightly in the lead, America second, with Japan bringing up the rear considerably behind the United States.

Guard Parley When Threats Are Received

Officials of State Department
Receive Threatening Letters

Washington, Nov. 12—An unusually heavy guard was thrown today about the state department, where the first session of the armament conference was held, as a result of the receipt of threatening letters by high officials of the state department.

Increased precautions were also taken to protect the distinguished statesmen from all parts of the world who are here for the conference.

While an air of secrecy has been thrown about the missives, it was learned today that they are of a highly disturbing character. They are not the ordinary "crank" letters which public men and important officials habitually receive, but are said to show considerable education and intelligence on the part of the authors. The purpose of one letter was that the writer would attempt to "injure and thereby impress" the gathering of world statesmen here.

All night long, United States marines walked their post about the D. A. R. hall, where the conference is being held today, and about the new navy building where the conferences of the various delegations are to be held.

NO MOLDERS REGISTER FOR WORK, MAYOR SAYS

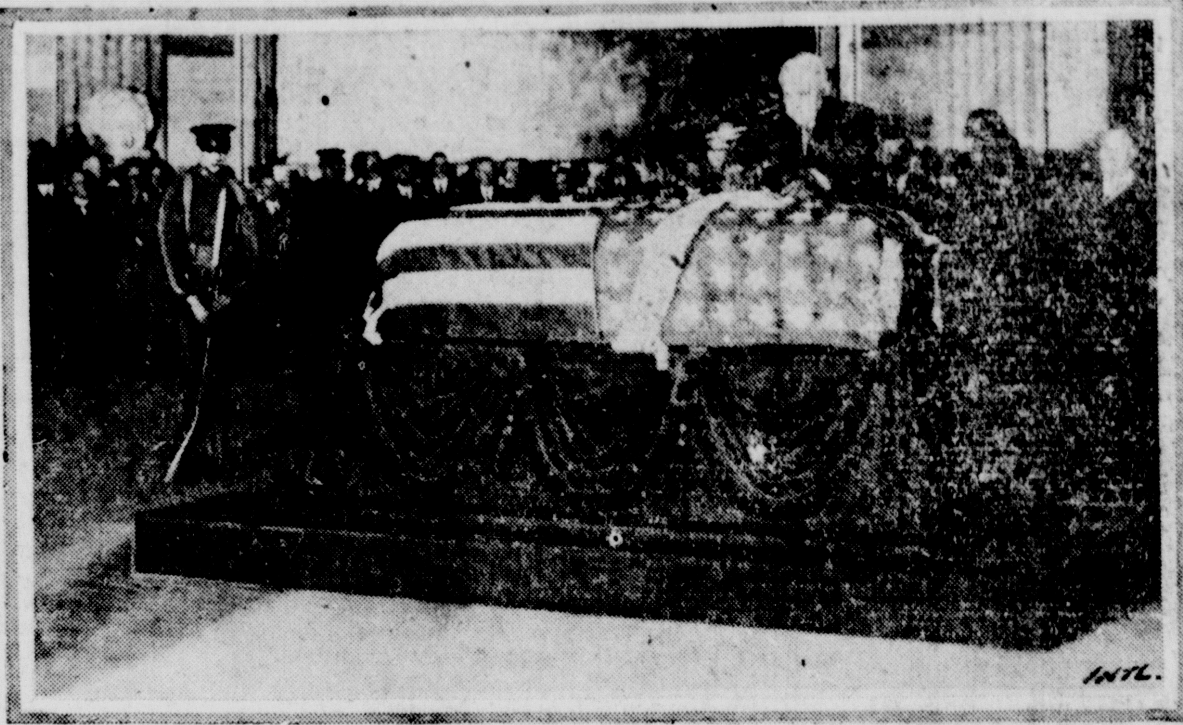

In justice to all concerned in the unemployment situation here, Mayor Post stated Saturday, in reply to the article submitted by a "Farmer" in Thursday's issue of The News, that there is not one man listed on the roster of unemployed at his office who is a molder.

Mayor Post opened an employment bureau in Salem and the movement, met with the approval of the citizens, especially those who have been in want because of unemployment. The mayor believes that the letter to The News was prompted through a misunderstanding on the part of the "Farmer."

Monday the mayor will appoint a committee of men to go into the matter of unemployment in a systematic manner and everything in his power will be done to bring about better industrial conditions in Salem, he said Saturday.

Statesmen Discuss Reduction Of Arms

America Takes Active Lead- ership In First World Movement for Elimination Of International War- fare.

Washington, Nov. 12—America took active leadership today in the first world movement in history for the elimination of international menaces that threaten civilization with future war.

The statesmen of nine nations, great and small, met around a table to try to work out by mutual agreement a formula of understanding that will make war unnecessary and relegate armies and navies to the rank of mere police forces.

Within sight of the building where the statesmen gathered is the spot where yesterday was buried one of the millions of victims of war's terrible ravages, and it was fresh from the sight of that impressive ceremony

In two weeks George E. Russell of this city will be the possessor of a reward of $500 for capture of John Townsend, alias Clyde Adams, a murder convict who escaped from the Illinois penitentiary.

Immediately after turning over the prisoner, Russell made application Saturday by Sheriff Gomer Lewis of Lisbon, who interceded in his behalf, that the claim had been granted. The Illinois officials informed the sheriff that the money would be forwarded as soon as necessary legal procedure is completed.

that the diplomats turned to their labors today.

Reduced to simple terms, the United States seeks:

First—To prevent competition among the great powers in the construction of war machinery—naval, land and air.

Second—To remove sources of international friction in the Pacific ocean zone that may lead to future conflict.

Recognizing the general belief that the Far East is the new danger spot, America has sought the cooperation of eight other powers with vital interest in the Orient to ally the danger of a "next world war."

This is generally regarded as the greatest humanitarian crusade in the history of mankind. But it is also a practical scheme for material relief from the overwhelming burden of taxation and debt.

Seldom, if ever, have the great powers of the world gathered under auspices more agreeable or conditions more conducive to general peace and concord among nations. All of the nations represented—America, the British empire, France, Japan, Italy, China, Belgium, Holland and Portugal—are at peace and their statesmen have arrived in Washington with the avowed determination of perpetuating that peace.

Here in the tranquil atmosphere of Washington thousands of miles removed from the evidences of war's ravages the great nations profess to believe that the formula of understanding which they seek can be found.

The veteran diplomats of Europe who have participated in every important international parley for the last half century characterized today's meeting as unique in world history—a meeting called in advance of war, designed to prevent war, and a voluntary coming together of the great nations to limit the size of each other's armies and navies.

Business-Like Atmosphere.
Certainly, no world conference ever got under way in a more business-like atmosphere. There were no great gilded halls filled with priceless paintings, rich tapestries and antique bric-a-brac in which to meet. There were no relics of past conquests hanging on the walls of the conference room in Continental hall this morning.

Instead, there was a workmanlike room, plainly furnished and devoid of glitter and display.

The machine opened at 10:30 o'clock. Long before that hour crowds had begun to gather in Seventeenth street to see the great of Europe and Asia meet together on American soil for the first time in history. Seventeenth street, so long a quiet thoroughfare, has suddenly been transformed into an avenue of nations.

The atmosphere of the meeting at the time of opening was one of intense expectancy. None of the hundreds of diplomats gathered here from the far corners of the earth will admit that his respective nation has any pre-conceived notion concerning either limitation of armament or the controversial questions of the Far East that are to be adjusted.

FOUR OVERCOATS TAKEN

When ex-service men who attended the banquet given by W. H. Mullins Friday night, went to the cloak-room at the Elks home at the conclusion of the program, four of the undervalued coats that others had taken their overcoats. Two of these coats were new, having been purchased Friday.

As the "supply sergeant" no longer has issues overcoats without charge, the boys are anxious to have their coats returned. They will be given to their rightful owners if sent at the Elks home.

PRESIDENT OPENS ARMS CONFERENCE OF WORLD POWERS

America Enters With Clean Hands, High Hopes, Hon- est Intentions

WARNS AGAINST ANY SECRET INTRIGUES

Declares World Is Crying For Means of Light- ening Burdens.

Washington, Nov. 12—In a terse, business-like speech, stripped of all diplomatic verbiage and needless of international expression, President Harding officially opened the momentous conference here this morning with a brief outline of America's position—clean hands, honest intentions and high hopes.

"Gentlemen of the conference," said the president, "the United States welcomes you with unselfish hands, we harbor no fears; we have no sword to brandish; we suspect no enemy; we contemplate no conquest. Content with that what we have, we seek nothing which is another's. We only wish to do with you that finer, nobler thing which no nation can do alone."

The president spoke from the head of the great U-shaped table in Continental hall, around which sat in rapid attention the statesmen of Europe and Asia. To the right of him sat France and Japan, to the left Great Britain and Italy and down at the far end of the horseshoe were the representatives of China, Belgium, Holland and Portugal.

On either side of him at the head of the table were America's delegates, the galleries above were crowded with the entire membership of house and senate, members of the cabinet, justices of the supreme court and diplomats.

Want None of War
"I can speak officially only for our United States," continued the president, "Our hundred millions frankly want less of armament and none of war. Wholly free from guile, sure in our minds that we harbor no unworthy designs, we accredit the world with the same good intent."

The president voiced both a hope (Continued on fourth page.)

200 EX-SERVICE MEN ARE GUESTS OF W. H. MULLINS

Armistice Day Banquet Is Served In Elks Room
Friday Night.

AKRON MAN SPEAKS ON DAY'S MEANING

Boys Express Their Hearty Appreciation For The Hospitality.

Ex-service men of Salem showed their appreciation of the generosity of W. H. Mullins Friday night by turning out more than 200 strong to the Armistice day banquet tendered them at the Elks home. Only 150 plates had been guaranteed and when the boys filled to capacity the large banquet hall at the Elks home they seemed to rejoice almost as much as Mr. Mullins that so many were present.

They sang patriotic songs while the Hundermark-Bartholomew orchestra played and then Rev. H. L. Miller, pastor of the Christian church and a member of the American Legion, gave the invocation. Flowers graced the tables arranged attractively by the Women's auxiliary of the Legion, whose members served the banquet.

After the satisfying menu had been disposed of, C. C. Hoover, commander of Charles H. Carey post No. 56, American Legion, as toastmaster, voiced the appreciation of the Legion boys and all ex-service men for the hospitality of their host, Mr. Mullins, and later the boys gave rousing cheers for him.

Stirring Addresses
Dr. F. T. Miles recalled in detail the experiences of American nurses who first reached the battle fields, and the great work of the Red Cross, and he praised the patriotic spirit of Mr. Mullins in helping the boys as they went to camp, in providing them a banquet every year and in donating $100,000 for a memorial building which is to be erected on McKinley ave.

Mr. Mullins responded fittingly, showing that he was greatly touched by the generous response to his invitation and by the hearty cheers of appreciation they gave him.

In presenting the principal address of the evening, Attorney Raymond F. Bowdy of Akron, chairman of the Summit county council, American Legion, explained in a forceful manner the real meaning of Armistice day, and more particularly the Armistice day of 1921. It is a day of mourning, of jollification and hope, he said; a day of mourning for the unknown heroes whose memory brought glowing tributes from nine nations of the empire of the world had been suppressed and that peace had again been restored, and hope that the international conference on limitation of arms might accomplish its purpose. It was a stirring address that went to the heart of every man in the room.

Throughout the evening excellent musical selections were given by the orchestra and the boys, led by E. V. Burt, sang the songs that were so familiar to them while in service.

Disarmament Plea Finds Favor Here

Resolution Supporting Purpose Of World Conference Is Adopted At Meeting Addressed By Labor Leader
Following Disarmament Parade—Akron Man Speaks
On Meaning Of Armistice Day.

"Now is the time to disarm," With this sentence forming the keynote of his speech and expressive of the policy adopted by labor, James F. Norrington, Youngstown, speaking on "Labor's Viewpoint on Disarmament," thrilled a large audience Friday afternoon gathered at the Grand theater for the Armistice day celebration held under the auspices of Trades and Labor assembly.

Raymond F. Bowdy, Akron, chairman of Summit county council, American Legion, speaking on "Armistice Day," clearly outlined to his listeners just what Armistice day means to every ex-service man who participated in the World war and what it should mean to every citizen now and in the future.

Address of both speakers were in keeping with the spirit of the occasion and the problems of the day. Both were delivered in simple language with words woven together in such a manner that held the rapt attention of the audience which almost filled the theater to capacity after witnessing the Armistice day and disarmament parade.

Plain facts and statistics showing the cost of the war and summarizing the expenditures of the United States in her armament program formed the nucleus of Norrington's speech. He informed his audience of the enormous expenditures of nations in the after-war armament program, declaring that labor stands for immediate disarmament with a view of obtaining future peace.

Mr. Bowdy explained what Armistice day means to ex-soldiers in a manner which touched the hearts of those who served in the world's greatest conflict, those who suffered the pangs of hunger and the trials of hardship, those whom the day will be commemorated as memorial day is held sacred by veterans of the Civil war.

Following the speech by Mr. Norrington presented resolutions on disarmament which was adopted and will be forwarded as a memorial to President Harding, the secretary of state and to each American delegate to the international conference on limitation and to the secretary of the delegation representing each foreign nation invited to participate in the conference.

The assemblage also gave a rising vote of endorsement to the following letter prepared by the G. A. R. to be sent to Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes.

"We, the common people, in times of war, always do the fighting, we suggest that all representatives be instructed to submit to the citizens of their respective nations a referendum vote, expressing their choice between world war and armament, or world peace and disarmament."

HERE IS RESOLUTION ADOPTED AT MEETING

The following resolution was adopted at the Armistice day meeting in the Grand theater Friday afternoon:

Whereas, the International Conference on Limitation of Armament held on this third anniversary of Armistice day convened in Washington, D. C., upon invitation of the government of our country, be it, Resolved, as the profound conviction of this public mass meeting of the citizens of Salem that the conference thus assembled in Washington remain in session until it accomplishes to the fullest degree the purpose for which it was invited to convene.

We proclaim it as our conviction and as the conviction of the great masses of the people of this and other countries, that civilization must shake off the terrific burden of armament, that it must turn its energies and its abilities from war to peace, from destruction to building.

With regret and astonishment we learn that our government spends approximately 93 cents out of every dollar of revenue for past wars, present armament and preparation for future possible war. The activities which make for development and progress are starved. This is a mad economic and social waste.

We not only petition our American representatives to use their best endeavors to win the world war (Continued on sixth page.)

ARMISTICE PARADE'S SIDELIGHTS

Considering the unfavorable weather conditions which kept hundreds of people from witnessing the Armistice day parade and which limited the marching delegation of organizations, the parade here Friday afternoon was the greatest held here since the Armistice day celebration in 1918.

When the last automobile of the parade passed The News office the head of the procession was going south through the entrance to Centennial park.

Military days were given rebirth when men in uniform and tin helmets were seen stationed at street intersections directing traffic.

Soldier boys turned out in force and made a splendid appearance. They swung down street to the rhythm of the drum beat as if it were only yesterday that they were in the ranks.

The patriotic float entered by Pythian Sisters was an elaborate affair, showing the results of much hard work.

Saxon, Rumanian, Italian and Slavish organizations stepped to the front with that patriotic feeling which was shown during the war. Two bands were in line.

School children of the primary grades were in line, marching along as proudly as the soldiers. The Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts with their fifty uniforms added color to the demonstration.

Philip Triem camp, No. 43, Sons of Veterans, turned out well for the demonstration Friday and made a good appearance in the parade.

The annual inspection of Salem canton No. 11, Patriarchs Militant, will be Friday evening, Dec. 9. It was announced at the Friday evening session that Captain Strock, Alliance, had been detailed to conduct the inspection at that time.

The canton will hold a meeting Nov. 25, to prepare for this event.

Orin Naragon, Woodland ave., sustained bruises and scratches about the face in an accident about 5:30 p. m. Friday on McKinley ave., near Ohio ave., when an automobile driven by Robert Mackintosh, Washingtonville, struck the bicycle on which he was riding.

Young Naragon was thrown off and dragged a short distance. The front wheel of the automobile ran over his shoulder. Both wheels of the bicycle were broken.

It is understood Mackintosh failed to see the boy, who was in front of him.

The Golden Rule Among Nations

SEEKING the foundation that is substantial and enduring, on which the forward-looking movement in the world conference on limitation of armaments may rest, and on which it may build for the future, the thought of the world turns to the Golden Rule, the teachings of the Christian religion. Prayer has been the resort of the godly people of the land many times when great questions confronted the country. Probably the religious thought has been never more apparent than now. It has been noticeable from the first and is conspicuous as the world waits the conference opening.

Governors of many states have asked in proclamation that their men and women pray for Divine guidance, for wisdom that will lead the conference to meet the duty with courage, select the right path and follow on. Guidance is needed and the need admitted just as it has been in many former national situations. Statesmen, scholars, devout citizens have joined with clergymen in their appeals. The peace of the world through the years to come is the goal desired, to win which guidance from the Most High is sought. The religious impulse has sobered the world as the gathering is contemplated and has spurred humanity to its greatest efforts, its humbleness of spirit, its dependence on a higher power.

The world is not so much interested in a mere declaration of peace between peoples as in seeing started the work of clearing away the troublesome questions that make for war, clearing them away in the spirit of brotherhood and in justice. To the right solution of the great questions presented, to decisions that may mark the beginning of international relations based on the peace of right and justice the human heart turns in eagerness, while it throbs in pain from the unhealed hurts of war.

All the discussions have brought forth no other basis of agreement for that peace save the eternal principles of right given by the great father of all. The world knows there will be no golden age ushered in at once if that peace is established, but the fear of war will be lessened, the world can turn in peace from destruction to production. For that prayers are being uttered, at all shrines and from all peoples, for the use of the Golden Rule among nations.

Patriotism Rewarded

THE NEWS joins ex-service men of Salem in denouncing the sordid outburst in "Our Readers" column Thursday evening by one who styled himself an "ex-service man." This column is conducted by The News as an open forum for expressions of its readers' views on any subject of general interest, and it deprecates the fact that there are always a few who take advantage of this opportunity to inject insidious propaganda and personal abuse. The News accepts no responsibility for statements appearing in that column. Its views and policies appear only in the editorial column.

The writer of that communication was an ex-service man, but it is comforting to note that he did not represent them in the views expressed. The presence of hundreds of patriotic ex-service men at the banquet given them by W. H. Mullins, a man whose patriotism was never questioned, and the expressions of resentment evidenced the fact that they did not subscribe to the doctrine of the author of the communication in question.

The Salem boys who served their country in time of need were proud Friday night that the city had one public benefactor who had not forgotten what they did in the name of patriotism and for the sake of democracy. And they accorded him an ovation such as is seldom given any man. True patriotism found expression in the courtesy Mr. Mullins extended Salem's ex-service men and The News is pleased to note that the boys accepted his hospitality in that spirit.

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women

Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had fever and sick dizzy spells and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine, and it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HARRY A. WILSON, R. F. D. 5, Clearfield, Pa.

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a healthy normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backaches, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness and "the blues" a woman cannot act too promptly in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she values her future comfort and happiness.

All the discussions have brought forth no other basis of agreement for that peace save the eternal principles of right given by the great father of all. The world knows there will be no golden age ushered in at once if that peace is established, but the fear of war will be lessened, the world can turn in peace from destruction to production. OUR READERS

Replies to Ex-Service Man Editor of The News:

As an ex-service man of Salem I attended the banquet given by Mr. W. H. Mullins last night, and while there I was impressed by two things. First, that more ex-service men responded to Mr. Mullins' invitation than had been anticipated, thereby showing the friendly feeling and appreciation they hold for him; and second, the fact that the "ex-service man" with a bad case of indigestion whose article appeared in your readers' column Thursday, was not missed on this happy occasion.

In a sense he was missed—his absence was appreciated for his contribution to the press did not represent the opinion of Salem's ex-service men. Who is that misguided individual who degraded himself by even suggesting that this banquet for the soldiers was given merely as a matter of course by a man who has dignified the community by his acts of patriotism and his contributions to uplift humanity and to bring joy and comfort into the lives of those who returned from the battle fields? Is he unmindful of the fact that Mr. Mullins is the only man in Salem who has done anything really worthwhile for the ex-service men, that in addition to donating them a banquet every year he has contributed a fund of $100,000 for a soldiers' memorial building which shall not only provide them with a comfortable home but shall ever be a monument to his generosity and to their patriotism.

And what kind of an individual is this "ex-service man" who takes exception to patriotic programs in our public schools and who is so devoid of proper manners as to attack a private club—the Kiwanis club—because he did not receive an invitation to be its guest?

We ex-service men who still know the meaning of patriotism and, who have a sense of appreciation for favors bestowed in a patriotic spirit, can be thankful that the entire community rose up in protest against the shameful abuse written by this so-called "ex-service man."

Healed by Hood Preparations

For two years I suffered greatly from blue veins on my leg. They started with a little sore that grew worse, larger, more painful till it extended around my whole ankle.

I decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla to purify my blood, with Hood's Medicated Soap to wash the sore, and Hood's Olive Ointment to help heal it. It was soon apparent I was on the right course, for as the result of faithfully taking the Sarsaparilla, the sore diminished and finally disappeared. Toledo Is Greatest Home Owning City Listed By Census

Columbus, Nov. 12.—Toledo is the greatest home-owning city of any of the 30 largest cities in the United States, according to figures just announced by the Ohio Building Association League in conjunction with the United States Department of Commerce. Seattle stands second in the list, with Baltimore third, New York last.

Columbus is the second greatest home-owning city in Ohio and the twelfth in the United States; Cleveland stands third in Ohio and fourth in the nation, while Cincinnati is fourth in Ohio and twentieth in the nation.

Of the 57,951 homes in Toledo, 49.4 per cent are owned by the occupants, an increase of 6.4 per cent during the last 20 years. This increase is attributed to building, loan and savings institutions in Toledo whose assets during the same period increased from $4,133,220 to $15,368,099. These institutions gained 20 per cent in assets during the last year.

Of the 58,914 homes in Columbus, 36.6 per cent are owned by the occupants, a gain of 5.4 per cent in the last 20 years.

Of the 182,692 homes in Cleveland, 25.1 per cent are owned by the occupants.

Of the 106,239 homes in Cincinnati, 28.7 per cent are owned by the occupants, an increase of approximately 8 per cent in the last 20 years, the greatest gain made by any large city in Ohio over the same period of time.

Met, Wooded And Wed In Four Days

A few days ago this beautiful young woman was Miss Charlotte Rich, beauty of the motion-picture studios in California. Then she met Albert E. Du Brin, a New York broker, in San Francisco, and now she's no longer Miss Rich. The courtship lasted only four days, but that was three days too long for Mr. Du Brin. "No more pictures," says Mrs. Du Brin. "Matrimony is profession enough for any woman."

Has Cow 39 Years Old Still Milking

A grade shorthorn cow 39 years old and still giving milk enough to make about four pounds of butter a week has been found by dairy professors of Ohio State university on the farm of Miss Libby Hamilton, five miles southeast of Columbus. This is thought to be the oldest milking cow in Ohio and possibly in the United States.

Miss Hamilton, who is 80 years old, has had "Rexy" since April, 1882 when "Rexy" was born. The cow is now almost three times the average age, says the University dairymen, and is to be regarded as a curiosity equal to a person 150 years old, or older. Quite as remarkable as "Rexy's" age is the fact that she has a daughter eight years old having freshened at the age of 31.

CORN CROP IS SHORT BUT SUPPLY EQUALS THAT OF LAST YEAR

Columbus, Nov. 12.—Although this year's corn crop in Ohio is 150,000,000 bushels less than that of last year, the amount of corn still held by the farmers increases the total supply this year almost to an equality with that of last year, according to C. J. West, agricultural statistician. The quality of the corn is very good.

The potato crop is of only fair quality and is 5,000,000 bushels less than last year. Statistician West said. The average yield is 58 bushels per acre, compared with 100 last year. Clover seed yielded 1.3 bushels per acre, the same as last year, the acreage harvesting about 75 per cent of normal.

Winter wheat averages 57 pounds per bushel. Weight of oats is estimated at 25 pounds per bushel.

The 11 per cent increase in number of apple trees of bearing age, due to new trees becoming of bearing age, is more than offset by a 13 per cent decrease, due to bearing trees dying out.

OLDS, ELECTED MAYOR, BACKS DOWN ON PLANS

Youngstown, Nov. 12.—George L. Olds, market proprietor who was elected mayor Tuesday on an independent ticket after he had established a residence here only three months ago, "backed down" on some of his campaign pledges and made new promises in his first formal statement since his election.

Olds isn't going to throw out the street cars and turn the streets over to the jitneys, he indicated. He finds he can't legally dismiss the street railway commissioner as he had planned, he says. But the bootleggers are going to be cleaned up, he declares, and reiterates his pledge that the chief of police and the whole police force will be dismissed if they don't obey orders to that effect.

COMPETITIVE DRILLS AND PARADE FEATURE TRUCE DAY AT LISBON

Lisbon, Nov. 12—Lisbon's celebration of Armistice day was a success in spite of the weather. The cold and rain kept hundreds in their homes during the day, but at night there were thousands upon the streets to see the parade and fireworks. The Alliance City band, forty strong, gave concerts during the afternoon and evening and led the parade at night.

The exercises started at noon, when for two minutes there was silence, followed by a barrage fire of set pieces, the American flag being unfurled high in the heavens from exploding bomb. Then came the strains of America and the Star Spangled Banner.

Congressman Frank Murphy made an address, glorifying the soldiers and the great work done during the war. He also made an appeal for a higher degree of citizenship and loyalty to the government for the upholding of the constitution and not merely to provisions that meet with individual approval.

The competitive drill of soldiers attracted a great deal of attention, hundreds standing in the rain and watching the elimination of one soldier after another. It looked at a time as though the ranks would never be decimated by the elimination of those who made errors in executing commands, but finally but two soldiers were in line and the drill master gave an order that was not in accordance with the manual. One soldier attempted to go from left shoulder to rifle salute, but Matthew Jordan of the engineers, refused to be caught and he was given the five dollar gold piece.

The night parade was made up of soldiers, floats, masqueraders, automobiles and citizens.

During the afternoon the Christian church women served coffee and doughnuts to the soldiers and in the evening the Red Cross gave an elaborate dinner to the boys in uniform and visiting musicians.

PRESIDENT OPENS

and a warning in his brief address—hope that out of this conference may come international peace and a better understanding among nations and a warning that these things can not be accomplished by the secret intrigue that has defeated the aims of so many international gatherings.

"This is not to be done in intrigue," he said earnestly, "greater assurance is found in exchanges of simple honesty and directness."

The possibilities of this conference the president pointed out, are enormous. The world is crying for a means of lightening burdens, longing for a clearer understanding that may prevent its being again set aflame by war. And out of this gathering, the president voiced the hope would come these very things.

Perhaps never before in this world, his way has there been a parley of the world's leading statesmen with so little contention and so little display of power, expression, and trappings of grandeur and rank.

To The Moon, And Then Back Again

Cleveland, Nov. 12—Enough wire to span the distance from earth to the moon more than 100 times is required by the telephone companies of the United States to provide service to the nation's 17,000,000 people.

The telephone industry has expanded and developed to such an extent that it has required the erection of pole lines which would reach nearly 15 times around the world, the installation of duct space for carrying cables underground of sufficient length to reach more than six times through the center of the earth from pole to pole, and the construction of buildings, enough, if brought together, to form a city larger than Dayton.

Over 23,000,000 telephone conversations take place every day.

Yet it was only 45 years ago that the telephone was invented.

FREE LUNCH COUNTER WILL SAVE OHIO BIRDS IF WINTER IS SEVERE

A food shelf built with a southern side exposed is regarded by ornithologists at the Ohio Experiment station as essential in aiding song birds to survive severe Ohio winters.

The weakest point in bird life generally comes during the winter when snow cuts off the food supply.

Suet, cracked nuts, seeds, grains and crumbs in good quantity furnish a ration for practically all birds.

Warm weather is also a bird delicacy when the ground is frozen and no snow is in evidence.

Grain mixed with chaff scattered in a sheltered place is often the means of saving grain from death during heavy snowfalls.

A free lunch counter for birds, however, need not be maintained during mild periods, as at these times it would be best to encourage the birds to destroy dormant insects which live in crevices or under the bark of trees.

The Hug and Kiss On Christmas Morning

—from Daughter or Wife, are among the things that put Happiness into Homes and Life into Living. They are well worth the year of waiting, but, like every Precious Treasure, they must be earned.

A Man's Work is his Life—his pleasure and his pain, his hope and his fear; the outlet for all his energies and the fulfillment of all his desires; demanding all and giving all; coaxing, driving, diverting by its endless change and variety.

A Woman's Home is her World—Is it a Bright World? Within its four walls her life is spent; always the same walls and the same deadly monotony of tasks; no change of face or scene or problem; small chance for a Happy Life unless you plant Happiness there.

Woman was cast from the clays of Tenderness, Imagination, Emotion and Art—and Man from their opposites. Woman's Nature demands and must have expression for itself and fulfillment of its mission, else there can be no Happiness.

But chiefly the Woman is Emotion—you know it, she knows it—and the Language of the Emotions is Music. Therefore give her the means to express the Greatest Force God placed within her. Let his be a Musical Christmas—for her sake.

Home is the Common Meeting Ground of Husband and Wife, Parents and Children, Brothers and Sisters, Family Friends. Let us make it so bright and so cheerful and so happy that none will be tempted to stray from it. Herein lies Family Safety.

Will there be a VICTROLA in your Home Christmas Morning? THINK IT OVER. Come in and let us talk over Terms and Delivery with you. Victor Victrolas $25.00 to $35.00.

DEFENDS THE "DIME NOVEL"

Canadian Writer Points Out That at Least It Shunned the "Sex Stuff" Now Common.

This is not a plea for the return of the dime novel. In fact, we fear that the dime novel can never come back; they don't sell anything for a dime any more. All in all, however, the only thing about the dime novel that was as bad as it was painted was the cover. Most of us remember much that was pleasant about the old "paper cover" that flourished in the '80s and '90s. Under Diamond Dick we rang-fought all sorts of thugs and bad men; with Old King Brady we detected the bank robber with our detectors hitting on all six; we rode with Buffalo Bill as he put the Indian sign on Indians, that were at least supposed to be bad. Sometimes it was rough stuff, but at that it was rarely that more than one throat a day was cut or more than a pint of gore left clinging to the deftly-revered scalp. We remember that in the end Virtue (spell with a capital V, please) always triumphed and that honesty, if not the best policy, didn't do anything any harm. The much-abused dime novel, it will have to be said, tended the young shoots of the imagination in many a creaky woodshed left and in many a sheltered spot behind the cedar fence.

As we remember the dime novel, we are unable to recall one bedroom scene, one neglected wife, one young heroine sobbing in her pink bonnet because she is not understood, one nasty sex problem. Which may lead some of us to think that the dime novel had nothing to fear in comparison with the 32 novel.—Mantolova Free Press.

Methodist, Rev. H. H. Scott, minister—Tomorrow throughout the republic a grateful people will offer prayer for the conference being held at Washington, for the Liberation of Armament. It is desired that all people reverently assemble in the house of God to supplicate the throne of grace and to wait upon God for his blessing on the nations of the world, and that peace may come to the world distraught with fear and distrust. Rev. H. H. Scott will preach at 11 on the topic, "The Problem of Disarmament—the Great War Followed by the Little Peace."

At 6:30 the Epworth League will meet and discuss the topic "Examples of Personal Evangelism." Miss Eloise Chamberlain is the leader.

At 7:30, the women's home will be "The Handicaps of Life, or Some Miracles of Grief and Grace."

Wednesday at 3 p. m. all ladies of the church are asked to assemble for important church work and to enjoy social games and a good time together. At 7 p. m. a church rally service will be held at the church, and important measures considered.

Holy Trinity English Lutheran, Rev. J. P. Hartman, pastor—Sunday school convenes promptly at 9:45 a. m. A. H. Schupp, superintendent. This is an age of specialization; men labor in narrowed fields of endeavor. Each has his definite task assigned; he is commissioned to discharge a definite duty. Yet there is one commission assigned to all men, regardless of color or creed, race or social position. At the morning service, beginning at 11 o'clock, the pastor will preach on "The Great Commission."

The evening service at 7:30 will be in charge of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society, and the following "Thank Offering Service" program has been prepared: Opening hymn, "Before Jehovah's Awful Throne;" prayer, Mrs. W. H. Ritz; scripture reading; report of work during last year; hymn of consecration, "Take my Life," exercise, "Songs of Grateful Hearts," by the Juniors; in gathering of thank offerings; address by pastor; solo, "God is Love," Miss Clara Schuidt; prayer, thanksgiving hymn, "Now Thank We All Our God;" benediction.

Christian, Rev. H. L. Miller, pastor—Taking a man's gun away is no sign that he will no longer fight. Taking a nation's armament away does not guarantee that peaceful relations shall exist between nations. After all our whooping is done, we must face the fact that the church and the church school and all kindred institutions where the love of God and love of our fellowmen is taught and trained into practice of life, are still the responsible organizations that must keep the soul of things right. What are our Christian people doing to answer in these stressed times?

First Friends, Rev. I. L. Kinzey, pastor, Church Bible school, 9:45, E. L. Goldy, superintendent; morning worship at 11 with sermon by Rev. Merrill Coffin, Alliance; Christian Endeavor, 6:30; evening service, 7:30 sermon by Prof. Ralph Coppock.

WILL ARMS MEET BE OPEN AFFAIR?

COUNTRY IS INTENSELY INTERESTED IN THIS QUESTION STILL NOT SETTLED.

PUBLIC FOR FULL PUBLICITY

Best Opinion in Washington Is in Favor of Allowing the Members of the Conference to Do as They Please as to Closed Sessions.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Is the coming conference on the limitation of armaments to be an open affair? Is the public to be allowed to know what is going on within the chamber of council, or are the proceedings to be shrouded from the eyes of the public?

Nobody can reply definitely as yet to these questions, but they are upstanding today and an immense amount of interest is being shown in the answers which finally will be forthcoming.

It may be somewhat of a surprise to the country to learn that many of the persons most interested in the success of the conference are among the advocates of closed sessions, or at any rate of sessions which shall be open or closed at the will of the conference.

On the other hand, there is a demand which is growing in insistence day by day that all of the meetings shall be thrown open to the public, except, of course, those in which votes are to be taken on matters of high moment, with a view to making the results public as soon as the opinions of the conference on a particular matter have been learned.

Questionnaires to prominent officials in Washington and to Washington correspondents have come from several bodies here and there, from newspaper organizations and from individuals asking that each person addressed give his views as to the advisability of open or closed sessions of the conference.

Public Is Suspicious.

Naturally enough the public will want to know what is going on within the council chamber and also naturally enough the public is afraid that if closed doors are the order of the day some of the conferences may be able to induce results by subtle methods which they could not induce if the world was auditor and spectator in one. The word of every country which is to be a party to the conference, has been passed that everything done will be done in the best interests of a limitation of armaments and of a proper settlement of the problems of the Far East. Is this to be depended on?

From the point of view of the State department, the word of every nation whose representatives will meet in Washington, must be taken at its face value without so much as a shrug of doubt. Diplomacy, of course, believes that the casting of doubt, or even the suggestion of a suspicion concerning motives, may work to the disadvantage of frankness in the interchange of views, and also possibly to prevent success, from being attained. It seems to the writer that the majority of worth while opinion in Washington is in favor of allowing the conference to do as they please about open or shut sessions. Experience has shown, so some of the diplomats say, that if the sessions are open the delegates will not speak their minds as freely on various subjects as they would if they knew that what they say is not to be given to the world, or course it is realized that if the delegates do not open their hearts to their fellow conferees there cannot be an entirely proper basis for negotiations, because the feeling will be always that something is being held back.

Would Speak Freely in Private.

It is conceivable, of course, that Japan, for instance, might not be willing to say to the people of the United States just what it is willing to say in conference to delegates of this country on some question or other like that of Yap. If this small territory can be taken as an example. It is possible that in what may be called a closet conference, the Japanese might be willing to give in specific terms every grievance which they have, and every suspicion which they have of the motives of other countries. They might give these grievances and suspicions to the conferees, hoping that they could be answered in good faith and to the satisfaction of the grievance and suspicion holders. It is not at all likely that any country would like to give to the public the entire roster of its fears and suspicions.

Washington is still puzzled as to what it is to do with visitors which will come to the city this winter. This matter has been touched upon in the press quite frequently, but it is becoming a more grievous one day by day, because it is fully expected that the scenes of war-time winters in Washington will be re-enacted this year. It is almost impossible today to find anything vacant in the way of apartments or living rooms outside of the hotels. The hotels themselves will be in rather a hard way to provide for American visitors later on, because the foreigners have taken whole floors in many of the greater hostleries, and this means that so far as the general public is concerned the city will be deprived of a large part of its living quarters for transients.

"VAMPS" WHO MADE HISTORY

By JAMES C. YOUNG.

(By McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
"THE CURSE OF ENGLAND"—A WOMAN.

WHEN young Charles II of England was a refugee in Holland, after his father had been executed, a staunch loyalist by the name of Roger Palmer came to him with a large sum of money and plans to gain the throne for Charles. Palmer had a nineteen-year-old wife, Barbara. At sixteen she had an intrigue with a famous rake and now threw herself directly in the path of Charles.

On May 29, 1660, the king returned in triumph to London by the efforts of Palmer and other loyalists. He found Barbara awaiting him and hurried through the day's ceremonies that he might join her. Palmer was so strong a loyalist that he surrendered his wife to Charles, and in reward was made duke of Cleveland.

Barbara developed an insatiable passion for wealth and gambling. She was not even true to the king; but he, a lazy cynic, looked on good-naturedly. Her control over him and wild extravagance gained her the lurid title "The Curse of England." It was she who founded the fortune of the ducal house of Marlborough, giving the first duke, then a poor nobody, his start in life. She bought him a place in the army, where he afterward rose to be that famous duke of Marlborough who won for England such notable victories.

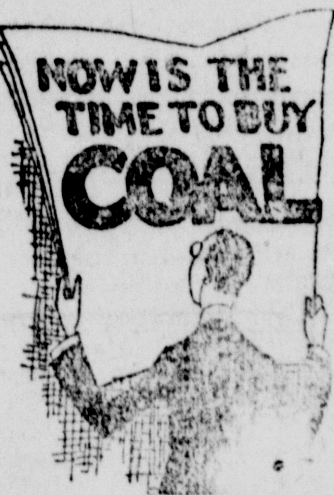

Historians of the day say that Barbara often lost as much as $100,000 in a single evening's play, a fabulous sum for that time.

Barbara was one of the most beautiful women of her time, with regal carriage and seemingly perpetual youth. She ruled the indolent Charles at will, dictating policies of state, making or ruining fortunes as her fancy chose. She made powerful enemies, but as long as her control endured over Charles she cared little for the opinion of others. It became dangerous for her to go about the streets of London, so great was the hatred against her, and she adopted a royal style, traveling with mounted bodyguard.

But the fickle Charles at last tired of her and she saw his attention turned to other women. One by one she outwitted them until France sent over Louise de la Queroladille, a pretty little vampire, with instructions to sway Charles in negotiations between the two kingdoms. And Barbara lost her tilt with Louise.

Eagles Defeat Kent, Scoring Four Times

Great Line Plunges Bring
Salem Eleven Victory
By 25-0 Score.

Playing in a sea of mud which eliminated forward passing and caused frequent fumbles, the Salem Eagles swamped the Kent A. C. 25 to 0 Friday afternoon at Relfly field.

Superior weight of Salem wore down the defense of the opponents and in the final period gains were made at will.

Kent displayed a scrappy defensive in the opening period which withstood all assaults of Salem's backfield. While the visitors were unable to gain their defensive attack prevented Salem from scoring in this one period.

Salem's first touchdown came in the second period when Quarterback Bolen skirted right end for 12 yards after line plunges had advanced the ball to within striking distance. The first half ended without further scoring.

With a changed lineup to relieve the mud caked players of the first half, Salem started the final half with an assault that was unchecked. Hannay kicked to Kent and after three attempts to pierce Salem's line Fullback Cremp punted to Hannay who returned the ball 20 yards. A steady march down the field was started. Line play after line play was run, substantial gains being made until Evans took it over. Hannay kicked goal.

No further scoring was made by Salem in the third quarter but with the ball on the 10-yard line when the fourth period started Evans sneaked through the line for the third score. Hannay failed at goal. Hannay made the final score shortly before the end of the game when he broke through guard and romped 30 yards, eluding two tacklers.

On the defensive Harmon of Salem played a wonderful game at tackle and Hannay at fullback was outstanding ground gainer. Evans played a good offensive game and his gains were consistent. Hausman of the visitors showed to advantage on defensive.

The One-Ton Truck

The Ford One-Ton Truck first made its appeal to the farmer and the merchant because of the merits of Ford Cars. And it made its wonderful reputation and great sales record because it lived up to every claim made for it.

The reliable Ford Motor, the special Ford steel chassis, the aluminum bronze worm-drive, all combine to produce a truck of unusual power, capacity and strength—a truck that lasts in service; a truck that solves the haulage problem at a very small operating and upkeep expense. Hence the demand for the Ford One-Ton Truck is constantly on the increase.

For the good of your business, whether it be farming, merchandising or manufacturing, you should come in and look over the Ford One-Ton Truck—NOW!

IMPORTANT

We are prepared to furnish the Ford Truck equipped either with Standard or Special Gearing. The Standard Gearing gives the truck a maximum of power. The Special Gearing increases the speed of the truck from five to seven miles an hour, converting it into a Fast Delivery Car.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

from war and its terrible toll of life and wealth, we demand that they succeed.

We do not propose that America alone disarm. That would be folly and would endanger all democratic civilization. We demand international agreement, knowing that the peoples of all countries voice the convictions here expressed.

We have obliterated the last of the great unlimited autocracies.

Is a world organized democratically to confess its inability to use the machinery of democracy? We declare to the world our faith that the machinery of democracy is sufficient—that it must be sufficient and that our statesmen must not be permitted to invest democracy with the ancient traditions, fears, superstitions, mechanics, and economic maladjustments of autocracy.

We are gazing upon a world whose spirit calls for peace.

Peace with the world of today is more than an economic necessity—it is spiritual necessity, a moral necessity, a necessity that conforms to a world that has reached that stage where democratic government is possible.

The international conference has a great task. It must accomplish much. It must respond to the heart-beat of the world. It must answer the call of the soul of the world. It must recognize the intelligence of the world and it must above all measure up to that intelligence and satisfy it.

International peace is practical, not because the world in its depression and anguish wishes peace, but because the world is capable of peace. That is the final, clinching argument for peace.

The world is capable of peace, based on justice.

The world has outgrown its childhood. It can no longer confess the mental inability to envision peace and to organize for peace. It is intellectually capable of peace.

Democracy has proven itself. Democracy makes peace possible today and unless we proclaim the futility of democracy we must proclaim the feasibility, the immediate possibility of lasting world peace by international agreement and the International Conference on Limitation of Armament is charged to find and proclaim that agreement.

MEANT TO HOLD PRISONERS

Chinese Policeman Was Taking Chances on His Charges Getting Away From Him.

"The late Willard Straight," said a Cornell professor, "often used to tell a story which typified, he said, China and the Chinese."

"Straight, in his official capacity in China, once had occasion to hand over to a Chinese policeman nine Chinese delinquents. This happened in a small, inland village, and Straight that night walked round to the policeman's quarters to see how his prisoners were getting along."

"He found them holding hands in a ring—or so, at least, it seemed—and dancing round and round a tall flagstaff, like children playing ring-around-a-rosy. Straight drew nearer, and saw that the men were not really holding hands, but were handcuffed wrist to wrist."

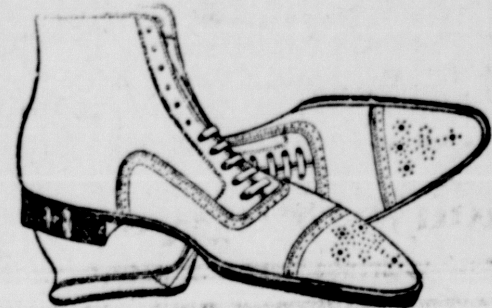

"The policeman then came out and stirred them up with a long pole, whereupon they danced a little faster. The policeman explained to Straight that there was no village jail, and so he had adopted this flagstaff method of detaining his prisoners."

"But why," said Straight, "do you keep them dancing all the time?"

"That," said the policeman, "is to prevent them from climbing up the flagstaff and escaping."

"Straight tried to explain that nine men, handcuffed together, could scarcely climb up a flagstaff simultaneously, but the policeman thought it was best to be on the safe side, and his nine prisoners danced their weary dance round the flagstaff all night long."
